OUR SAN FRANCISCO LETTER.

The Schools--Summer Tourists and where They will Go--The Favorite Resorts--Thomas Concerts--Notes.

Spring has imperceptibly lengthened into summer and the yearly exodus to country places has already begun. The closing of the schools is always the signal for a general "flitting," and during the past week the public schools and most of the private institutions have released their pupils from study and restraint, for a jolly month or six weeks. The school census taken in May shows a total of about of school age (between 5 and 17) an increase of 5,000 during the year. Of these 43,000 are attending the public schools, 8,750 are at private schools, and 16,000 do not attend school at all.

The Thomas concerts will keep many people in town till the end of next week, but even now every highway of travel is carrying into California's innumerable delightful retreats, thousands of seekers after health and pleasure. Many are bound for fashionable resorts where all the conventionalities of city life will follow them; they will dress and flirt and dance as the custom is the year round, but will also enjoy all the delights the country can afford. Others, preferring the real rest and refreshment which should be drawn from summer rustication, choose some retired farm, or ranch as we say in California, where the thrifty housewife adds to her accustomed cares by taking summer boarders. In such places, though there may be a number of visitors, most of the trammels of city life are, by common consent, dispensed with, and the time is about equally divided between healthy, out-door exercise, and lazy, in-door lounging.

Among our favorite resorts, Monterey and Santa Cruz on the coast; the old standbys of Yosemite and the Big Trees, and the various springs—Gilroy, Paraiso, the Geysers, the White Sulpher, Paso Robles, etc., is, each, the destination of a long line of pilgrims, but that fickle goddess, Fashion, seems to have fixed on as the spot most sacred to her worship. During the summer months the Hotel del Monte will be a little city of itself—a city, however, where only the bright side of life is to be seen. Wealth, beauty and culture will congregate there—to rest, perhaps, in some cases, but more generally to keep up the drama of city life on a country stage. About a mile and a half from Del Monte is a resort for the more seriously inclined.

PACIFIC GROVE,

the Christian seaside resort, is a camping ground established several years ago by a few people who wished to enjoy the healthful pleasure of the seaside without having to share in the follies and dissipations of fashionable watering places. Accordingly a little village of tents was laid out, and the broad sea beach afforded all the aquatic enjoyments to be found at Del Monte. No liquor is allowed on the grounds, and all is as orderly as the management of several reverend doctors and church deacons can make it. In spite of these restraints, which some would deem fatal to the popularity of the resort, Pacific Grove has proved so congenial to a large class that the boundaries of the camp have been yearly extended, till now it forms quite a little settlement of tents during the season. Streets have been laid out, water brought in pipes from a mountain stream, and a number of a permanent of cottages have been built. Church services and Sunday-school are held each Sabbath, an annual camp-meeting is held, and this year the summer meeting of the Chatauqua Literary and Scientific Circle will convene there.

Coming down on the Southern Pacific train from San Francisco to Monterey we might, if we wished, alight at almost any station and make our way into regions almost as popular as those already mentioned. At San Mateo, Redwood, Belmont and Menlo Park are the country houses of many of our millionaires. The grandest of these places are at Menlo. Here is the residence of Mr. Timothy Hopkins, originally owned by the late Milton S. Latham, and adorned with all the lavish beauty that taste could suggest and unlimited means supply. The beautiful grounds contain extensive greenhouses, aviaries of rare birds, a tennis court, and through the trees a glimpse is caught of a portion of the ruins of a Grecian temple—three exquisite pillars and part of the foundation which, rumor said, cost Mr. Latham the sum of $30,000 to transport to their present site. Not far from Mr. Hopkins' is James C. Flood's palace, the grounds of which are kept scrupulously closed against the public, though the general rule at Menlo is, open gates, so that all who wish may drive or walk through the grounds, which cultivation and climate have made so beautiful. To Menlo come the Crockers, the Mays, the Adamses and others to spend the summer months; during the remainder of the year many of these places are left to the care of servants. A short drive from Menlo Park brings one to the place owned by the one among our rich men who promises to do the most public good with his wealth. Space forbids any detailed description of "Palo Alto," as the place is called; there are beautiful trees and shrubbery, well kept lawns, graceful statuary. Here are the splendid stables where Senator Stanford's celebrated horses are kept. The house is not pretentious, but homelike. All is very beautiful, but the half-envious sigh which might rise to the lips of the visitor is checked at sight of a granite tomb, half hidden in foliage, where lies the son and heir to all this wealth.

These are some of the private and public resorts of the summer. The list might be continued indefinitely, as we have but glanced at the coast to the south of San Francisco, leaving all unnoticed the interior of the state, the mountain and lake regions, and the beautiful places hidden away among the hills to the north of the bay and reached by the romantic line of the N. P. C. railway. But we must leave space for a few words about the

THOMAS CONCERTS.

The season opened on Thursday evening last, and the final performance will be given on Wednesday, June 3d. These concerts have been eagerly looked forward to on account of the promised appearance of Frau Materna, the world-renowned exponent of Wagner's music. The music of the Wagnerian school is superceding all other, especially since the death of the great master. "It is the music of the future," say the impressarios. But however that may be, it did not take very well when Theodore Thomas and his orchestra first introduced it in the East. In San Francisco, on the contrary, it was enthusiastically received, when Thomas visited us two years ago, and he accordingly praised our musical taste all across the continent. Our repetition being thus established, we are having a rare treat from the stores of Wagner's grand tragedies.

MADAME MATERNA,

the one singer whom Wagner deemed capable of expressing the spirit of his works, has a wonderful voice and presence. She is a massive woman, suited to the super-human characters who figure in the plays of "Parsifal," "Tannhauser," "Nebelunger," etc. Her powerful voice sometimes vibrates with its own strength, like an organ, and even on the concert stage she seems to become as much inspired with the dramatic feeling of the part as if she were singing in the great theatre at Baireuth.

The other vocal soloists are Madame Furch-Madi, Miss Clapper, and Messrs. Heinrich and Winch. The orchestra consists of some fifty-five or sixty performers, who work as one man under Thomas' unequalled leadership. As usual, the music has been, throughout, of the highest class, selections from Wagner being most numerous. Two nights of the season are devoted to this composer; Saturday, when "Tannhausen" and "Lohengrin" furnished the selections, and to-night when portions of the master's last great work, "Parsifal," will be rendered by Materna. A "French night" and a "Spanish night," with two nights of miscellaneous selections make up the list of six evening programmes. Two matinees are also included in the season.

The interior arrangements of the pavilion are an improvement on the former season. The seating capacity is 7300, but only on the Wagner night was the house full. The boxes, 100 in number, are generally full, most of the occupants appearing in full dress. In the orchestra seats and dress circle, full dress is quite common, but by no means the rule.

NOTES.

Decoration day was observed in the usual manner. The military features of the celebration were under the direction of veterans of the war, who led the way in decorating the graves of their fallen comrades.

Mr. Selim Franklin, well known in Victoria, was seriously injured recently by falling on the staircase at his residence on Powell street. His recovery is, however, assured.

Boucicault has been succeeded at the Baldwin theatre by the Madison Square company in "Fedora," Sardou's latest play. In their prospectus the Baldwin managers announce Mary Anderson to appear early next year.

Other attractions at the theatres are Mlle. Aimee in "Divorcons" and the comedy of "Strictly Business" at the Standard.

VICTORIA.

LAKE HILL.—Mr. Ralph, C. E., has completed the subdividing and marking of the corner posts of this valuable estate, and the property will soon be placed upon the market at private sale on exceptionally favorable terms; a most advantageous view of the land, together with the adjoining estates, Swan Lake and Victoria can be had from Lake Hill heights which are easy of access; prices of each plot of about five acres will be given upon application after the 30th April. Subdivision maps can be seen at our office. District maps of the location can be had on application.

J. P. DAVIES & Co.

BUT ONE OPINION prevails throughout the world, and that is so strongly in favor of Perry Davis' Pain Killer, that no other article ever attained so wide spread popularity.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Forewarned

of danger by the condition of your blood, as shown in pimples, blotches, boils, or discolorations of the skin; or by a feeling of languor, induced, perhaps, by inactivity of the stomach, liver, and kidneys, you should take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It will renew and invigorate your blood, and cause the vital organs to properly perform their functions. If you suffer from or Neuralgia, a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla will relieve and cure you. Alice Kendall, 218 Tremont st., Boston, Mass., writes: "I have been troubled with Neuralgia, pain in the side, and weakness, and have found greater relief from Ayer's Sarsaparilla than from any other remedy." J. C. Tolman, 336 Merrimack st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "In no other remedy have I ever found such a happy relief from Rheumatism as in saparilla." It instils new life into the blood, and imparts vitality and strength. Being highly concentrated, it is the most economical blood purifier.

Forearmed

with Ayer's Sarsaparilla, there need be no fear of Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Eczema, Catarrh, Liver troubles, or any of the diseases arising from Scrofulous taints in the blood. Geo. Garwood, Big Springs, Ohio, writes: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has been used in my family for a number of years. I was a constant sufferer from but Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a permanent cure. Seven years ago my wife was troubled with Goitre: two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured her, and she has never had any return of the disease. I regard this preparation as the best medicine in use for the blood." B. Barnard Wair, 75 Adams st., Lynn, Mass., writes: "For many years I suffered terribly from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Scrofula. Almost hopeless, I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and am a well man to-day." Be sure and get Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the most thorough and effective blood purifier. The best is the cheapest.

RAILROADS IN CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES.

The Railroad Gazette is authority for the statement that the state of Illinois has nearly as many miles of railway as the dominion, with this difference, that the Illinois railroads earn twice as much as ours. The same authority shows, by the following table, that the railroads of Massachusetts, with about 30 per cent of the total dominion railway mileage, had one-fourth more earnings. The figures are:

Massachusetts has about 950 inhabitants per mile of railroad, against 400 in Canada. The gross earnings of the Canadian roads were just about equal to those of the 1000 miles of the New York Central in 1880 and 1883, but their net earnings were nearly a fourth less than the Central's last year, and only about half as great as the Central's in 1880. Our sparse population and the large relative area of the dominion naturally account for the smaller earnings of Canadian railways compared with those of the republic. Canada has, as above stated, one mile of railway to each 400 inhabitants, while the more wealthy and advanced nation has but one mile for each 458 inhabitants. A number of our railways do not pay the actual working expenses, and the net earnings per mile in Canada are set down at $817, as against $2702 in the states. Nothing deterred by this non-productive result, Canada has gone on pluckily building railways, and within six years past has increased her mileage by 86 per cent, while in the United States the mileage was increased by 60 per cent.

THE FRUIT CROP.

The yield of fruit throughout the province promises to be large. The weather of the early spring was exceptionally favorable to fruit on the mainland, where the crop rarely, if ever, fails. Along the lower Fraser and on any of the benches of the upper river, in the Spallumcheen and Okanagan valleys and in Lillooet district, there is excellent fruit growing land. In those districts climate and soil are as well adapted for the production of grapes, peaches and melons as they are for apples, pears and plums. The completion of the railway will open a market for the pomological productions of British Columbia in the Northwest and Manitoba, which are fruitless countries. The hard winters kill the trees, and nothing but the Siberian crab will grow there. Excellent fruit is grown in eastern Canada, but the distance it has to be carried to reach the Northwest is greater than from British Columbia, and freight rates on Pacific-raised fruit will consequently be much lower. We think we can perceive a source of large profit to this province in its fruit capabilities. Dried and fresh fruits will always have ready sale east of the mountains; and when our agriculturalists become impressed with the belief that it will pay to establish orchards in connection with their farms they will set out trees and vines and make ready for the demand which is sure to come.

THE MINISTERIAL CRISIS.

If cablegrams are to be believed, the Gladstone government is in the throes of disintegration. Dilke and Chamberlain are represented to be dissatisfied with the proposal to renew the Irish Crimes Act, and threaten to withdraw from the cabinet unless the idea is abandoned. They represent the extreme radicals in the cabinet, and being men of considerable force of character and withal popular, the liberal section of the cabinet can ill afford to quarrel with them. Not long ago the radicals forced Gladstone to dismiss Forster, chief secretary for Ireland, and it is safe to predict that Dilke and Chamberlain will now bring sufficient pressure to bear on their colleagues to induce them to greatly modify if not wholly abandon the Crimes Act. The present condition of Ireland is more satisfactory than it has been at any time for ten years past, and it is not likely that the re enactment of a measure which Irishmen regard with feelings of abhorrence would improve matters. Indeed, it might set the whole ity might easily befall the country than the country again in a blaze. A greater calam dissolution of the Gladstone cabinet; but one could scarcely imagine a disaster of greater magnitude than would follow the revival of the agitation which, until a few months ago, threatened to disrupt the British empire.

EVOLUTION.

Beecher Tells What He Don't Know

About the Origin of Man.

NEW YORK, June 1 —Beecher's second sermon on evolution applied to religion and filled Plymouth church yesterday, despite the showery skies. He adopted a bolder, more confident tone than in the first sermon. "I quite incline to the belief," he said, "that man is in the order of nature, in analogy with all the rest of God's work, and that there was a time when he stepped ahead of his fellow-animals. The descent, or ascent, as the case may be, of man from the great family of apes has not yet been proven. But as an hypothesis I hold it, and hold it in suspense, awaiting further light To the fearful and timid let me say, while evolution is bound to compel theology to reconstruct its lines, it will take nothing away from true religion. If we can change theology we can emancipate religion. They are not the same, thank God, they are not the same."

The Times says: We shall watch with much interest to see how Mr. Beecher accounts for the presence of a soul in the being who has merely stepped ahead of his fellow-animals.

The Herald says: It is very certain the disciples of evolution are to find a powerful friend and advocate in Mr. Beecher. Its opponents will be handled without gloves.

OUR CABLE LETTER.

The Dissensions in the British Cabinet.

Radical Platform for the Coming Elections.

Report that the Ameer of Afghanistan is Murdered.

Tribal Chiefs Greatly Displeased with Present Outlook.

Proposed to Establish Gordon Free State in Africa.

LONDON, June 6 —No progress has been made during the week in the alleged dissention in the British cabinet. The government remains on the verge of disruption. Chamberlain is ambitious to be come an English premier, and Dilke, innately radical, still stubbornly refuses to assent to Gladstone's announced policy of renewing the Irish crimes act. It is true the yesterday retreated from his original position on this question far enough to admit that the government now mean to renew the bill modified, but Dilke in the cabinet insists there exists in Ireland today no reason and prospect of any reason for renewal in any form, while neither Chamberlain nor Dilke have personally stated in public that he will resign from the cabinet if the premier persists in his renewal policy. It is generally understood both have actually threatened to do so. It is not believed the modified policy announced by the prime minister has in anywise altered the threat. The

has in fact extended to other matters. The radical ministers are just as much opposed to the plan of the electoral campaign formulated for the coming election by whig members as they are to the renewal of the crimes act. The number of ministerial rebels on this point is larger even than arrayed against the renewal. Chamberlain, chairman of the board of trade, Dilke, president of the local government board, Trevelyan, John Bright's successor in the chancellorshsp of Dachy of Lancaster, and Shaw Lefevre, successor to the great Fawcett as postmaster general. All insist on a RADICAL PLATFORM.

These gentlemen agree that the principal planks in the liberal platform should be 1st, a reform in the constitution of the house of lords by reducing the number of hereditary peers and increasing the number of life titles; 2nd, a reform of the law of entail, which will work toward a division rather than a concentration of land titles; 3rd, a general reform in the land laws of Great Britain to the end that the number of holdings in fee may be increased and titles to land be more easily obtained; 4th, for Ireland the widest possible measure of self-government consistent with the unity of the British empire; 5th, public denominational education of the principles accepted by the Irish party.

THE WHIG FACTION

in the cabinet refuse steadfastly to adopt any of these five principles in the platform of the liberal party for the coming campaign; hence the party will enter the canvass weak from lack of cohesion. On this account it is more than probable that Gladstone will be induced to remain in political power for the purpose of personally conducting the campaign for his party. The liberals have no other man competent for the task.

The Russian report that the Ameer of Afghanistan has been

is not credited at the British foreign office. Couriers from Cabul arrive at British ports on the Afghan frontier twice a week regularly. In the latest reports brought to British agents at these posts there was no news of an actual disorder in Afghanistan, but the general situation in the Ameer's dominions has been described in all recent reports as one betokening danger to his authority. This has been attributed to the discontent among tribal chiefs over the Ameer's failure to distribute among them the sums of money which the chiefs believe he received from Earl Dufferin, viceroy of India, in a recent durbar at Rawul Pindi, with which to subsidize the Afghan tribes. The chiefs have all along felt certain that Abdurahamaun was entrusted with a large sum for their benefit and of their tribesmen, and they have chafed under the failure to get what they expected as their shares. It would not be surprising if some of these disappointed chiefs should have resolved on murder as revenge on the Ameer.

Cardinal Manning's proposal that a fund for

be expended for founding a Gordon free state, to include the Nile country, and preserve the river Nile for the world's commerce, on a plan which the International African Association is founding in the Congo free state, finds but little favor among a majority of the subscribers to the fund, most of whom oppose the employment of the money in anything pertaining to trade. A strong syndicate is, however, being formed in London to carry out in a purely commercial and speculative way the cardinal's scheme. The syndicate will form a company under a charter from the crown, and will soon organize a series of public meetings throughout England to boom the enterprise as a national project, to form a new basis for the extension of British commerce and the suppression of the AFRICAN SLAVE TRADE.

Among many distinguished patrons of the scheme in its new state are the Baroness Burdette Coutts and a number of rich philanthropists, although the number of Hebrews, pure and simple, is greater than that of Christians.

LATEST CANADIAN NEWS.

The New Scheme to Raise Money.

Large Fire in London, Ont.

The Latest from the Northwest.

A Credit of $1,000,000 Asked.

TORONTO, May 29.—London Cable:—Messrs. Baring & Glyn and Mills, Currie & Co. have offered the holders of the Canadian government 5 per cent loan, redeemable in June next, an extension of twenty-four and one-half years, the interest to be reduced to 4 per cent. per annum. The principal would thus be redeemable on Jan. 1, 1910. In addition to the interest at the rate of 5 per cent, which would be due on July 1, the holders who agree to convert their securities will receive a bonus of 1 per cent on the amount they may accept of the new loan. The option of conversion will remain open until June, 1888.

LONDON, Ont, May 29 —A fire at John Elliott & Sons' foundry caused almost a total loss to the machinery. The patterns, unfinished work and nearly 500 mowers, binders and reapers were destroyed. Loss, $200,000; insurance, $75,000.

BATTLEFORD, N. W. T., May 20 —There is no news of Big Bear, who is believed to have dispersed his band and gone north on receipt of the news of the news of Poundmaker's capture. The story of the finding of Mrs. Gowanlock's body turns out false, and there is absolutely no authentic news of the fate of Big Bear's captives.

Poundmaker told General Middleton he did not make war. The general asked whether a chief was without authority. He replied: "I am not the chief." He said he had notified Big Bear of his surrender. Lean Man, a Stoney chief, denied personal knowledge of Payne's murder. He said he had heard that Ecta committed it. Another Indian asked the general how he would get his living. The general addressed the gathering and said:

The Indians must stop going to the whites and begging. They had been well treated, but when they imagined the whites were in difficulties they ungratefully attacked them, pillaging, murdering and keeping the country in an uproar. They thought the whites had not many soldiers, and that the Indians were better fighters and able to shoot them down from ambush. He proved the contrary, and if the Indians had neglected to surrender he would have taken a large force and hunted the tribe till all were killed.

Thunder Child protested that he knew nothing of any wrong doing. He and others wanted to shake hands. The general refused and said he would only shake hands with good Indians. An old squaw quietly appealed for her people.

FREDERICTON, May 26.—Mr. Stephen Whittaker, the oldest tanner in the city, has assigned to Messrs. George F. Gregory and William Wheeler. The various causes, remote and immediate, for the failure are said to be the loss sustained through Robinson & Co, through the Francis Collins, Francis & Vaughan and William Peters failures, through the general depression in the leather trade since January, and through the great shrinkage in St. John real estate.

OTTAWA, Ont., Special Telegram, May 20.—In the house to night, Bowell, acting minister of finance, asked a vote of credit for $1,000,000 to defray the cost in connection with the Northwestern rebellion. Caron, minister of militia, stated that this was merely for transport, pay of the men and forage for horses. He could not give any estimate as to the entire cost up to date, but all the $200,000 already voted was expended. He calculated that it would cost $500,000 for six thousand men. He did not include ammunition or the price of horses. In answer to a criticism of Blake, who thought some mismanagement had been made regarding the purchase of supplies and other contracts, Caron stated that things had to be done in a hurry, and the government could not get along without the help of the Hudson Bay company. The house went into committee of supply and passed the resolution.

ADAMS VS. COLERIDGE

Mildred Coleridge's Husband Goes After his Father-in-law.

LONDON, June 4.—The action for libel against Lord Chief Justice Coleridge, brought by Charles Mantell Adams, based upon attacks on his character made by defendant in a letter to mutual friends for the purpose of prejudicing Miss Mildred Coleridge, whom Adams was courting, against him, was brought to trial in the court of appeals to-day. Adams appeared as his own counsel. Adams in opening his case made a very long address to the court. He complained of Justice Manisty's conduct while presiding over the trial of the action for libel which Adams last year brought against Bernard Coleridge, son of the Lord Chief Justice for writing letters defamatory of him (Adams) to Miss Coleridge, for the express purpose of dissuading her from marrying him. Summing up, Justice, Manisty, Adams contended, is prejudiced. "Justice Manisty told the jury," continued Adams, "that I could not subsist unaided, that I had no home for Miss Mildred Coleridge. Thank God, I have a a happy home. If I have not a gorgeous one, I trust my home is equally happy for Miss Mildred. Justice Manisty all but implied in his summing up that I was a swindler. Bernard Coleridge in that case did not care to enter the witness box to attempt to justify the attack he made upon his sister and myself in his letters to Miss Mildred."

Adams concluded by asking the court to quash the judgment of Justice Manisty, who reversed the jury's verdict and dismissed the case with costs plaintiff. Attorney General James replied to Adams by dwelling at length upon the legal aspects of the case, upon the question of privileged communications and upon the rights and duties of parents and brothers in warning a daughter and sister against taking steps which they believe imprudent or dangerous.

Judgment in case will be delivered to-morrow.

Victoria Transfer Co.'s Stables.

This city has always been noted for the excellence of its drives which surpass in safety and beauty all others on this richly endowed coast; and there is reason to believe that the city will soon be equally noted for its fine horses and vehicles and commodious and well appointed stables. A visitor to the Transfer Co.'s new stables, on Broughton and Courtenay streets, will be well repaid. Every possible convenience if provided. Nothing that will conduce to the health and comfort of the dumb beasts has been omitted. Roomy, airy and well drained stables, new harness and secure vehicles of all styles and every size, and young, well trained horses, mostly of British Columbia production, are among the attractions which the patrons of these stables are offered. On the ground floor are the offices of the B. C. Express Co. and the offices of the Transfer Co. Above these are a range of sleeping apartments for the employés. Then come storerooms, a carriage room (which will be reached by an elevator), stables for horses, hay and feed lofts, and many other conveniences. On every floor there are facilities for extinguishing fires, with grenades and water. But a description of these stables having appeared in The Colonist a short time ago we do not propose to go again over the same ground. It is only necessary to say that the Transfer Co's stables are not excelled by any similar establishment on the Pacific coast, and that no city of double the population of this can boast of as good accommodations.

THE INCOMING CELESTIAL.—The Queen of the Pacific yesterday brought in another consignment of 150 Chinese for this port, with all their peculiar baggage. At this rate weekly via San Francisco and the few other additional means of getting into the province, the Chinese in the course of a couple of years will be able to do without the whites and run the whole show themselves. Were the eyes of the people of Montreal greeted to the same sight that greets Victorians occasionally of Chinese cheap labor passing through its streets to compete with the white man for his bread, a cry would soon be raised sufficient to compel any government to grant the restriction that British Columbia has so long prayed for.

NEW WESTMINSTER POLICE COURT.—Mr. Levi, of Port Haney, came up last Wednesday afternoon on a charge of selling liquor to Indians. The witnesses for the prosecution were two men named Salmon and Brooks, who swore that they saw the liquor bought. Salmon, it seems, is a special constable, and Brooks was with him as a witness. The defense was that the liquor was not sold to Indians at all, but to half-breeds. Fined $50 We believe Mr. Levi has appealed from the decision. He positively denies the charge.—Columbian.

From Alberni.

Mr. Wm. Halpenny, government guide, returned from Alberni district yesterday and reports as follows:—Left here May 27th and helped to locate several, some of which were made on Sproat's Lake. Two gentlemen located in company 320 acres. One of them is Mr. J. J. Bristoe, an experienced Ontario farmer, who is highly pleased with what he has found in Alberni. Mr. Bristoe is very sanguine of the future prosperity of the Alberni valley. His partner, Mr. A. A. Cooper, late from the orange fields of Florida, is about to make our new settlement his future home and bid good-bye to the burning sun of the flowery south. Mr. Cooper will be the right kind of a settler, as he has a wife and family. I might state one of the present objections to the Alberni settlement is the want of men with wives and families, so schools could be started. But we see before us that the time is not far distant when that objection will disappear. We make this statement from the very fact that Alberni is settling up admirably fast, with plenty of room for more. She can now boast of 65 and about 55 of them have located there since this time last year. It would settle up much quicker if some one with a little money could run a small steamer around by the west coast, and up Barclay Sound. It might not pay so well at the first, but there is no doubt a man or company of men would do well by going into and starting a steamboat communication between Victoria and Alberni. I am sorry to say that just at present the settlers of Alberni are suffering for some of the very common necessaries of life. The few old settlers in the settlement have done their best to oblige their new neighbors, so much so that they have sold and given away the most of their own supplies and now they find themselves in the same fix as the new settler, and that is out of almost everything. Still they live in hope to do better, after things have become more settled. Messrs. J. J. Mollett and K McKenzie have made satisfactory progress with the building of the unfinished part of the trunk road

A number of tha settlers are building new houses. Mr- Merrifield's new log-house is a very fine one of its kind. The crops are in a very good condition, and promise a heavy yield.

From Okanogan.

Gentlemen down from the Okanagan district yesterday report that the general appearance of the crops was never better than at present. There has been plenty of rain lately, an unusual occurrence, and crops are well advanced in consequence. There is at present in store among the various farmers of the district from 3000 to 4000 tons of grain. This large quantity is accounted for by the fact that farmers refused to sell last fall at a less price than $37½ per ton, and the railway contractor imported his flour from San Francisco. Now $28 cannot be got for it. Flour has also dropped from $10 per barrel to $8 during the past couple of weeks.

At present grain has to be teamed a distance of 30 miles, and the question is again being agitated to build a narrow gauge line of railway between Lake Okanagan and Spillamcheen, there to connect with steamers from Kamloops. A steamer would also be placed on Okanagan Lake to freight to the railway. This would give a quick and easy means or transportation to the settlers.

M. E. Lequime has made arrangements for the purchase of a flouring mill which will be placed at once on his premises. This will make the fourth mill in the district.

Stock also are in splendid condition, the grass being very luxuriant. The general outlook for both crops and stock is very satisfactory.

Repairs to Pianos.

Mr. Oliver H. Goodwin, lately foreman of the largest piano factory on the Pacific coast, has returned to the city after an absence of some seven years, and is prepared to undertake the tuning, regulating or repairing of pianos. LOST AND FOUND.—The little 3 year-old daughter of Mr. A. McKeown wandered away from her home on Blanchard avenue yesterday morning and down to Wharf street, when she was taken in hand by Mr. D. Oppenheimer and to the police station. She remained here until late in the afternoon, when her father came down to inquire for her and found her quietly sleeping. This is the second time that the little girl has been lost and recovered. She evidently has a strong bump of investigation.

BRICK CHINESE THEATRE.—Moore & Hamilton have been awarded the contract for the construction of a Chinese brick theatre to be erected in the rear of King Tye's building on Cormorant street. The theatre will comprise parquet, with gallery and will have a capacity of 1000 Chinese. The price is about $10,000. Excavating was commenced yesterday.

ACCIDENT.—While working on the roof of a building on Humboldt street Saturday afternoon, James Haskell lost his footing and fell to the earth, a distance of twenty-six feet. He was picked up insensible and Dr. Milne sent for, who found no bones broken but a severe contusion on the head and other bruises. He was taken to his home and is progressing favorably.

Elliott the Hog Stealer Assaults Gaoler Hutchinson.

Yesterday morning at fifteen minutes to 10 o'clock, Gaoler Hutchinson ordered Elliott and Davey, the two men sent up for trial on a charge of stealing hogs from Chas. Beak, to go to the tailor shop and procure a change of clothes, and afterwards to take a bath. Something had occurred during the past few days to make the gaoler suspicious that these two meant mischief, and he followed Elliott to the tailor's room. At the door Elliott turned and struck the gaoler three blows in quick succession in the face, almost closing one eye and nearly breaking his nose. Mr. Hutchinson grabbed the man and held him and then took him to the yard. Davey seeing the guard Blake covering Elliott with his revolver remained quiet. After the bath had been taken and clothes changed, both men were immediately put in double irons and locked up. Elliott in the presence of others threatened that he would kill the gaoler the first chance he got. What Elliott's intention was in attacking gaoler Hutchinson is hard to say, for he has treated him kindly since coming into his charge. The probability is that they had concocted some plan of escape, which they could not have carried out if in prison dress and for this reason Elliott vented his rage on the gaoler. The matter will likely come before the magistrate to-morrow, and as it is a most serious offence, the culprit will no doubt be severely punished.

The Wrong Time to Disappear.

A reporter on a morning newspaper last evening, dressed in his Sunday best, sauntered down to Jones' boat-house and ordered a sliding seat outrigger. He remarked before getting in that he was practicing for a race with Paine. Taking off his coat and placing it in the boat, he placed himself in the seat, took hold of the spoons, brought them well back, and gave a monster stroke. He says he can never tell the cause, but the next second he had "caught a crab" and disappeared beneath the waters of the harbor. Coming up, a few strokes brought him to the slip and he was fished from his unwelcome bath. The boat was secured and his coat recovered, and the next thing to accomplish was to get to his home on Fort street. Not wishing to be seen in his drenched state, he crossed over from the boathouse, across the vacant lot to Humboldt street and along this and over Church hill, and a sudden run brought him to the house. Here he divested himself of his clothes, assumed his everyday garb and hung his soaking garments on the clothes line, putting the dog on watch over them. He says the next time he goes out he will hire a picnic barge.

Blue Ribbon Club.

After the opening exercises the following excellent programme was presented to the audience: Music by the orchestra; reading by Mr. R B Ellis, "Taking an elevator," which was rapturously applauded. Mr. S. Gray, sr., gave one of his stirring addresses declaring the Blue Ribbon Club would never sheathe the sword till prohibition was secured. William Oliver spoke strongly of the duty of parents to watch over their boys and teach them the evils of bad associations. Mr. Duval read an interesting poem entitled "A tribute to Wm. Cobbett," which was enjoyed by the audience, after which the evening's exercises were concluded by singing God Save the Queen.

FREEMASONRY.

Service in Blackfriars' Parish Church, Glasgow.

A sermon given under the auspices of the Lodge Glasgow St. John was preached by their chaplain, the Rev. Thomas Somerville, (formerly of Victoria, B. C.) in Blackfriars Parish Church recently. Invitations were issued by the Right Worshipful Master of St. John's to the masters and brethren, and deputations were present from many sister lodges in the province and also from several outside of it. The centre area was reserved for the members of the fraternity, and was completely filled—about six hundred having been present. The reverend chaplain preached from Romans 14 and 7, taking for his text the words, "None of us liveth unto himself." The sermon was given under two heads—first, the dependence of all on God; and secondly, the interdependence of each and every one—and from these he deduced the necessity of being careful in our personal influence and helpful towards all, and especially the brethren. In conclusion he said—In our traditions we go back to that first temple of Solomon in Jerusalem—the most richly adorned if not the largest of all the temples of the world. Then did Masonry go forth bearing upon her brow the name of Jehovah, in her bosom a jewel of living radiance, and in her hand the key of immortality. In former days she had part—a large part—in all the cathedrals and grand buildings of the middle ages. Let us remember that we are still builders—though not upon a building made with hands. As the men of old raised up that beautiful temple in silence—no sound of hammer nor of axe being heard—so are we noiselessly raising up from day to day a temple of character. The materials first we gather on every hand, from every scene we look upon, from every sound we hear, from every individual with whom we come in contact. As stone upon stone is laid so thought is added to thought, resolution to resolution. So build we up the being which we are, until we stand forth at last a moral building fair to view or all deformed and worthless. A Master we have—better and more enduring than him of old—even Jesus Christ, who is passed into the heavens. Be it ours to follow Him. Let us hear His words—"He that followeth Me shall not walk in darkness but shall have the light of life."

The Princess of Wales as a Peacemaker.

The Afghanistan Trouble Over at Last.

ENGLAND.

LONDON, June 6.—It is reported this afternoon that the slander case of Chas. W. Adams vs. Lord Coleridge has been compromised.

LONDON, June 6.—The Pall Mall Gazette says it is glad to be able to state upon the highest authority that the long standing question of difference between England and Russia concerning the northwest Afghan frontier has been finally and satisfactorily settled. A definite arrangement has been arrived at on the question of principle. Commissioners on the boundary will forthwith commence to mark precisely the delimitation of the boundary. They are now on the spot. The Gazette believes that the above might have been announced last week but for differences of opinion as to the more precise definition of the frontier east of Zulfigar. The Penjdeh incident will be referred to the King of Denmark, who has informally agreed to accept the office o arbitrator. The arbitration will be rigidly confined to the interpretation of the sacred convention of March 16th.

FRANCE.

PARIS, June 6.—The Gaulois states that the Princess of Wales is endeavoring to bring about a meeting of the Prince of Wales and the Czar of Russia at Copenhagen. It is the hope of the Princess that permanent peace may thus be secured through the meeting.

INDIA.

LIMLA, India, June 6.—The Russian telegraph system has been completed as far as Merv, and is now being extended to Sarahks on the confines of Afghanistan.

CRETE.

ATHENS, June 6.—It is reported that grave political disturbances have occurred in Crete. No details have yet reached this place, and the reason assigned is that the malcontents have cut the wires.

AFGHANISTAN.

LONDON, June 6.—It is vaguely reported that the Ameer of Afghanistan has been murdered by his suite.

CANADA.

BARRIE, Ont., June 6.—About 12 o'clock last night the wife of J. Monch and four children were burned to death in bed in their house here. Mr. Monch escaped by jumping cut of a window, after a vain effort to rescue his wife and children. He says when he awakened the whole room seemed to be on fire. He tried to pull his wife off the bed, but could not do so, as the fire was leaping out of the mattress all round her. He thinks the fire originated in the back shed, and says there were no signs of fire when he retired at 10:30 o'clock.

OTTAWA, June 6.—It is reported that the government has given instructions to fit out a number of small cruisers to be used for the protection of the gulf fisheries.

EASTERN STATES.

CONCORD, N. H., June 6.—Ex-Gov. Hale, of New Hampshire, whose residence is in Keene, has failed with large liabilities. His house in Keene and his interest in the Keene Chair Co. were attached on Thursday with claims amounting to over $100,000. It is reported that his liabilities may reach $1,000,000. The attaching parties are Mr. Parks, Ex-Gov. Hale's agent, and several of the National banks of Keene. It is not known to what extent the liabilities are secured. Several other banks in various parts of New England, it is understood, hold Mr. Hale's paper to greater or less extent. It is reported that Senator Blair and Frank W. Jones, of New Hampshire, are among the chief endorsers of Ex-Gov. Hale's paper. The attachments placed on ex-Gov. Hale's property amount to $277,-000. It is rumored that Hale's investments for two or three years past have been very unsuccessful, and that he has lost heavily in railroad enterprises.

A CARELESS MAN.

Shoots a young Girl while Examining his Pistol.

ROCKLIN CITY, May 30.—A sad tragedy occurred here upon the arrival of the of the immigrant train this mornidg going Eost. Among the passengers, on a special car of excursionists going East, were Mrs. Dr. C. E. Pinkham of Sacramento and her two children. Just before the train reached Rocklin a pistol shot was heard in the lavatory of the car, and immediately May Pinkman, daughter of Mrs. Dr. Pinkham and aged thirteen years, who was reclining on a pillow three seats away, exclaimed "Oh!" and apparently fainted. It was suposed she was frightened by the report, but upon trying to give her water it was found that blood was issuing from her breast, and that a bullet had entered just below the heart, causing instant death. Upon examination it was found that a passenger who had gone into the closet had fired a shot, probably accidentally, while handling his pistol, and the ball passing through a pane of glass in the closet about one fourth of an inch thick, produced the fatal result stated. A man was seen immediately after, running down the track to the rear of the train with his head bloody, and passed out of sight. It is supposed he jumped out of the closet window and was injured in falling, causing his bloody appearance. Detective Burke and Deputy Sheriff Kennedy are pursuit of the man. The car was detained here, and the coroner at Auburn telegraphed for to hold an inquest. It is thought the man who fired the shot was a passenger of another car, but he has not yet been identified.

The London Corporation and Hugo.

LONDON, June 4.—There was almost a riot at the last meeting of the corporation of London, over mention of the name of Victor Hugo. Sir John Bennett, member of the council, attempted to move a vote of condolence with the family of the great poet, and the city fathers at once took alarm. Most of them are strongly conservative in all things relating to the rights of property, and looked upon Hugo as the incarnation of communism. Lord Mayor Fowler, tory, in the mouth of all precedent, and in defiance of law, flatly refused to put the motion. Sir John Bennett appealed from the decision of the chair, and got a chance to utter a few words of eulogy, which prolonged the uproar. Several peace loving gentlemen begged him to withdraw his motion, but he obstinately refused. Finally the appeal was put to vote, and was decided by a small majority against Sir John.

A NEW IRONCLAD.

A Formidable Death-Dealer.

TOULON, May 14.—The squadron ironclad Caiman, which has been on stocks at the Mourillon Dockyard since July, 1878, is to be launched on the 21st inst. She was built from the plans of M. Sabatier, Director of Naval Construction, and was intended for a coastguard ironclad of the first class, of the Tonnerre and Vengeur type, but in the course of construction she was turned into a squadrou ironclad.

The most ingenious part of her equipment consists in the exhausting system, which secures the vessel against sinking in the event of leakage. By the means of self-acting valves it is possible to connect the various water-tight compartments. Two centrifugal pumps are attached to the great collector, having an interior diameter of 36 centimètres, the flow of water into which is controlled by means of valves. These pumps can each raise 500 tons of water per hour. With two powerful pulsometers and steam pumps, nearly 3,000 tons of water can be thrown into the sea in an hour.

The length of the ship is 87 mètres, including the bow, which projects five mètres. The greatest width is 18 metres, and the height seven metres. The summit of the turret is six metres above the water-line. The hull of the vessel is entirely composed of iron and steel. The engines, the pumps of all kinds, the apparatus moving the helm, the powder magazine—in short, all the essential parts of the ship—are protected by a deck covered with plates seven centimetres thick, on a backing of pine, 15 centimetres thick.

The armour consists of plates of Creuzot steel of a maximum thickness of 50 centimetres towards the middle of the ship, and thinner towards the two extremities. The ship will be propelled by two separate engines, acting on two screws, Each engine is more than 750-horse power. The 12 boilers, placed in groups of three each, are completely isolated. The boilers also supply the auxiliary machines. The speed expected is 14½ knots, using 600-horse power. The weight over and above that of the empty hull is more than 2,000 tons, to which the artillery contributes 450 tons, the engines and machinery weighing 1,200 tons. In order to permit the ship to run aground on shoals, as well as to facilitate firing, there is no keel, properly speaking, but two movable keels are fixed to the bottom. At least two or three years will be required to complete this vessel, ot which the cost will amount to from 12 to 13 millions of francs.

SIR PETER LUMSDEN.

Tells What he Knows of the Afghan Trouble.

Thinks Russia Might be Easily Frustrated.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 4.—Sir Peter Lumsden says: "Complications will soon arise between the Russians and the Afghans at the frontier, about the question of water supply. That, with gold, forms the pivot of all Central Asian politics. Nearly all Russo-Persian disputes have turned on questions of water use. Persia has been compelled at times, to relinquish the right to use water courses for irrigation, whenever Russia required water for military or commercial purposes. The Murghab is the finest river in Central Asia, with a full stream. The next Russian acquisition will assuredly be the watershed of Murghab valley."

He further says: "The Ameer's army now numbers 60,000, a majority of which is badly armed. The Afghans' position at Herat grows stronger, now that its inhabitants generally favor resistance to Russian advances. The change is produced by visible signs of co-operation of the British government, and the presence of British officers directing repairs of the fortifications."

Sir Peter thinks it would be very easy for the British government to render the Russian positions in Central Asia untenable. If Britain only gives word, and is willing to aid, all Turkestan would revolt against their Russian masters. He does not fear any Russian invasion of India, but he does fear the loss of England's prestige having an ill effect on the people of India, who will give undue strength to the power of Muscovite intrigues. He said adequate measures were being adopted to make the Indian frontier extremely safe, and nothing need be feared in the direction of Cashmere, as that country was inaccessible from Russian territory, and fully in British hands.

Yellowstone National Park.

Arrangements have been perfected for the season of 1885 in the way of excursions in the Yellowstone park. The O. R. & N. Co. have on sale excursion books to this favorite resort and return. These books include rail transportation Pullman sleeping car accommodation meals at eating stations and on the dining cars, stage fare and five days hotel accommodation in the park, and will be sold at the low rate of $120 from Portland. When it is considered that this rate includes the entire expense of the trip and provides the very best accommodations, at the same time relieving tourists of the trouble of looking after and making their own arrangements, its cheapness and advantage will be appreciated. This is a rare opportunity to visit the "Wonderland" and all who can should avail themselves of it. *

"HOW," SAID A GENTLEMAN to a friend who wished to convey a matter of importance to a lady without communicating directly with her, "how can you be certain of her reading the letter, seeing that you have directed it to her husband?" "That I have managed without the possibility of failure," was the answer: "she will open it to a certainty, for I have put the word 'private' in the corner."—Chicago Times.
